

Yale Professor To Speak On Science & Humanities

By Bill Legg, Ass't. News Editor

This Thursday, April 12, the Sadie Baker Ayd Lecture Series will present a talk by Harold G. Cassidy, Professor of Chemistry in Yale University. The title of Professor Cassidy's lecture will be: "The Sciences and the Humanities—How Can the Scientists and the Humanists Communicate?" The talk will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Cohn Hall. Professor Cassidy, a native of Havana, Cuba, received his B.A. degree from Oberlin College in 1930, and his M.A. degree there in 1932. In 1939, his Ph.D. was taken at Yale University.

Noted Scientist

Professor Cassidy is widely known both for his scientific work in the field of chemically reactive polymers and for his studies of the relationship of the sciences to the humanities in modern higher education.

Author

Doctor Cassidy is the author of five books and of over seventy scientific and scholarly articles for professional journals. Dr. Cassidy's latest book, entitled "The Sciences and The Arts: Their Relationship in Education and in Life," exemplifies his interest in the relationship of science to the humanities.

In addition, Professor Cassidy is a member of the American Chemical Society and the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. He is also a Fellow of the New York Academy of Sciences and since 1948 he has served as Associate Editor of the "American Journal of Science."

Yale Prof

Before going to Yale, Doctor Cassidy served as a chemist in private industry and as a chemistry instructor at Oberlin until 1937. During his years at Yale he served on several University committees including the Yale College Executive Committee and the Course of Study Committee.

The lecture is open to the public and all are invited to attend.

ROTC Schedules Training Weekend

By Norris Dodge

Under the supervision of the officers and enlisted men of the ROTC detachment, the Advanced Course Field Training will be conducted by a committee of MS IV cadets appointed by the Scabbard and Blade for the benefit of those MS III and IV cadets who will attend Summer Camp this year.

Chairman John Fischer

This year's exercises will begin at 1:00 p.m. today when the cadets leave for Fort George G. Meade and will last until approximately 3:00 p.m. Sunday. Preliminary planning for this week-end's exercises began as far back as early November, 1961 with a committee of seven qualified MS IV cadets. They are: John Fisher, Chairman; Norris Dodge, John Morrison, Raymond Burchill, Marion Karolkowski, Robert Kemmer, and Joseph Martin.

1962 Summer Camp

Dennis Homberg is acting aggressor commander. The committee was given the job of co-ordinating a schedule and activities which would be most beneficial to preparing those cadets concerned for the 1962 Summer Camp.

Election Petitions

The Election Committee has announced that April 3 through April 10 has been designated as the time for filing petitions; April 11 to 12 as the time for appointments with Father Galvin; and from April 13 through April 26 as the time for campaigning. The actual election will be held on April 27 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The petitions can be obtained at the Dean of Men's office for the following offices: president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes, presidents of the Student Council and Athletic Association, and three Council Representatives for the Senior and Junior classes, two Council Representatives for the sophomore class.

All of these offices will become effective as of September, 1962.

Fr. Lavin Announces New English Awards

Father Henry St. Clair Lavin, S.J., the head of the Loyola College English department has announced that awards will be given to two outstanding English students this semester.

The Three Arts Club of Homeland has offered Loyola a $50 prize for the best sophomore English student and a $25 prize for the best freshman English student. The purpose of the program is to further the understanding and appreciation of literature.

Last year this club gave an award of $100 to Bill Gardiner, class of '64, for his creative writing ability. The awards will be presented at the Fall Honors Convocation.

Eligibility

To be eligible for this program, students must have a cumulative average of at least B in English. The English Department will decide the winners on the basis of each individual's work in general and in particular upon his achievements in his term paper.

The frosh and soph students have been assigned papers on either prose fiction or drama. Each paper which is considered will be read by at least two members of the English Department.

Delighted

Father Lavin said that "he is delighted that the Club has this interest and that they have selected Loyola College." He hopes that the students will strive for these awards by producing work which has literary value.

Glee Club Plans Weekend Concert In Philadelphia

Tomorrow April 7, the Loyola College Glee Club will travel to Philadelphia to sing a concert with Rosemont College. This will be the third joint concert the Club has had this year. The boys will spend the night in the Sylvania Hotel.

Loyola Program

Loyola will sing: "Tarantella," two English Folk songs which are "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Capital Ship." Also, several of the songs which the Club has done at previous concerts are scheduled.

With Rosemont College they will sing "It's A Grand Night For Singing," and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson.

Joint Concert Here

Miss Reinecke, the Club Director, Father Smardon, S.J., the Club Moderator, and the Club officers have arranged for three other concerts to be given this year. The Club will sing with Marymount College in Virginia. The Club will sing with Mount Saint Agnes and Marymount College at a Spring Concert at Evergreen, and at a musical festival in Washington, D.C.

The Glee Club is grateful for the patronage at their Pop Concert and looks forward to another successful evening.

Spot News

Pre-Cana

Father Scanlan, S.J. will hold the first of four Pre-Cana Conferences next Sunday, April 15. The lectures will be open to seniors only. They will be held in the Library Building.

Diplomat

Bill Garland, '62 A.B. History, has been notified that he has qualified for the Foreign Service. He passed all of the written and physical examinations.

No Numbers Here

Father Paul Reinert, S.J., President of St. Louis University, lectured here last Sunday on the advantages of a small liberal arts college, and stressing the danger of de-personalization of the individual at larger schools.

Art for Art's Sake

J. Barry Tillman, the art editor of the Quarterly, has announced that the Art Contest entries will soon be judged. Anyone interested in entering should submit his work as soon as possible.

Editorial

Spice of Life

In a recent edition, the Greyhound printed a letter concerning the inadequate stock of books which was then being offered for purchase in the Loyola book-store. The letter called for greater student interest in the purchase of novels and the introduction of a more diversified selection of materials to be made available to the student.

Immediately after the recommendation had been made, faculty members began suggesting titles which they thought would be well received by their pupils. Books from many fields of interest were purchased and certain valuable "outline series" were re-ordered. Currently, there were many interesting works concerning philosophical and sociological thought, criticism, history and political science, and many other subjects available.

As usual, the progress of this enterprise rests solely upon the support which the students of Loyola give to it. If the men of Loyola continue to show an interest in the stock of the book-store and persist in urging the faculty to recommend the purchase of certain books to the management, they will succeed in obtaining the variety of titles which they desire. If not, then it is only good business sense that the management refuse to hear their appeals.

Slawski Sez'

Few modern playwrights have evoked as much comment, both favorable and unfavorable, as Tennessee Williams. Most of his themes have been criticized for the questionable taste in choice of subject matter. His topics range from homosexuality and abortion to cannibalism. Despite his apparent vulgarity, in the opinion of the reviewer, Williams' technique and style rank him as a great contemporary author.

Several of his plays have been made into motion pictures. The latest is "Sweet Bird of Youth." Although the basic theme lost much of its force because it was watered down for mass appeal, the attempt is well-done.

The story is set in a small southern town. Chance Wayne (Paul Newman), a neo-miles gloriosus, returns home with his key to success, an aging film queen, Alexandra del Lago (Geraldine Page). She picked him up because he offered her escape in his youth. He sees in her his key to a room at the top. Wayne's return is somewhat unwelcome since he had left Heavenly Finley pregnant. "Boss" Finley, Heavenly's father, has subjected her to an abortion to prevent any political repercussions from her impropriety. Wayne is ordered to leave or suffer dire consequences. After Miss del Lago discovers that there is hope for a new career, she forsakes chance to live in his own "Hell." Tom Finley, Jr. (Rip Torn) inflicts the not-so-dire consequences on Chance. But Heavenly, shaken with Chance's plight steals her father's car and speeds away in a cloud of technicolor dust, leaving her father with only a "Go to Hell."

The individual performances are superior. Geraldine Page is undeniably professional. She is a glittering tarnished angel who droops as the life is ebbing from her supporting branch. Her movements, inflections, expression, and pacing distinguish her as an excellent performer. Paul Newman admirably underplays his role as an obnoxious, self-centered gigolo who is clawing at the backdoor of success. Another prime performance was that of Ed Begley who exuded all the charm and inner corruption of his almost Faulknerian character, Rip Torn, Shirley Knight, Mildred Dunnock and Madeline Sherwood also do credible jobs.

The glowing fault with the show is the anti-climatic ending. The pessimism of the original theme is perhaps too deluded because of the great need for nickelodean appeal. All in all, perhaps, straight Williams does not belong in neighborhood theatres.

The Watchdog

In keeping with its policy of stimulating the awareness of current events to Loyola students, the "dog" this week prints a calendar of important dates:

Fashion

April 11-9:00, Mr. Steve Bogusky will open, for showing his much heralded "spring collection." (We all remember the success of his popular winter line).

Music

April 7-Maestro Buzzy Dietz will take time from his busy schedule to present a mixed program ranging from Strauss waltzes to his famous hit: "Hinkey, Dinkey, Parlez-Vous?" (Mr. Dietz is the undisputed master of the comb and wax-paper in The United States today.)

Do-It-Yourself Dept.

April 8-At 1:00, the "P.A." twins, Don Wallenhorst and Phil Potter, will demonstrate some practical uses of one of their pet projects: first aid. All pre-meds are invited.

Tony Torba

Mike Buchness

Charley Graham

Tony Torba

Tony Torba is best known to the Students of Loyola as the Captain of the Basketball Team. Tony came to Loyola from Dundalk High School, and after three years of excellent and consistent playing, the members of the team elected him as their Captain, a true honor for any Greyhound athlete.

Activities

Aside from playing Basketball, Tony is also a member of the Advanced R.O.T.C., a sergeant in the Scabbard and Blade, and an active member of the Management Club and the Block "L" Club.

Career

Tony's major is Business Administration, and, after serving his hitch in the Army as a member of the Adjutant General's Corps, he hopes to enter the field of business management or personnel management.

Improvement

When asked of his opinion of Loyola, Tony said, "Loyola is becoming academically more excellent, and the spirit of the student body has increased very much."

In June, Loyola's lost will be the Army's and business world's gain. The Greyhound wishes Tony the best of luck in all of his endeavors.

W. H. H.

An alumnus of Loyola High School and a resident of sunny Catonsville, Mike Buchness began his studies at Loyola College in preparation for acceptance to medical school at the end of his college career. Mike has succeeded with honors, ranking among the Top Three Seniors in the Biology department, and already has been accepted by the University of Maryland's medical school. Exercising his biological interests in extracurricular activities, Mike is a member of the Mendel Club.

Wrestler

One of Loyola's finest athletes, Mike is one of the original members of the "new" Loyola wrestling team introduced in 1958. Mike put an honorable finish to his long and sweaty mat career by taking home a bronze third place medal from the Mason-Dixon Championship Tournament this year. He is also an active member of the Block L Club. As his vehicular tastes testify, Mike is an avid sports car addict. Like his classmate, Charley Graham, Mike is an example of the type of Loyola student who takes full advantage of the opportunities offered him by the college.

B.P.C.

Mike Buchness

Charley Graham

Charley Graham hails from Elkton, Maryland and is an alumnus of Mt. St. Joe. Like Mike, Charley ranks among the top three seniors in his department and is a member of the Mendel Club. The "Animal" does not wish to become a doctor, but will pursue a career in Marine Biology, although he is not as yet sure where he will do his post graduate work.

Athletics

Charley has been a member of three different teams: Soccer, Wrestling, and Lacrosse. The "Animal" played Lacrosse only in his first two years. He was captain of the Soccer and Wrestling teams and has been a member of these squads for four years. Like Mike Buchness, Charley is one of the original members of the wrestling team re-introduced in their freshman year. Charley's athletic interests and abilities earned him the election to the presidency of the Block L Club.

Wrestler

The "Animal" derives his novel and misleading nomme de plume from a purported resemblance to a character in Stalag 17 and has borne this stigma since his high school days. Early this year Charley added matrimonial activity to his already full schedule.

Spring Fever

Have you ever noticed that around this time of the year there arises a certain feeling within one to get away from it all; to just relax and enjoy Nature's gift after a long winter of seclusion from the elements? Of course, the feeling is that light-headed malady, often times fatal disease called Spring fever, for want of a better name. It's an untreatable disease, which shows no partiality for sex, but is found more often in the young than in the old. Striking without warning, its effects are immediate. There is an irresistible urge to find the quietest, softest spot under the nearest, tallest tree and forget all about the cares of school, home, or work. To many people, Spring fever is a long ride in a convertible on a warm, sunny Sunday afternoon, not caring where you go or when you come back. To others, it's a long talk with your girl under a bright moon, flooding the night with its radiant beauty.

Not everyone is stricken to the point of incapacitation, however. Some people find Spring fever in a pickup game of baseball at some sandlot or an early morning fishing trip to a favorite spot, away from the crowd. The poor indoor golfers, who suffer through the Winter like caged animals, find Spring fever in a congenial round of golf at a scenic course, not worrying about their scores, just everybody else's. To most people, however, Spring fever is but the first symptom of that completely crippling disease, love, even more common than the common cold. It's a time when young men's fancy turns to thoughts of... well you know the rest. For all the suffering incurred by this perennial malady, however, not one cure has been found and so I am afraid that another epidemic will not be averted. But cheer up and remember, it only hurts for a little while, after that it doesn't matter any more.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Tom Kenney

A big dispute which continually rages in sporting circles and one which will probably never be settled is over the variance in quality between large and small college athletic teams. Some people will claim that a good small college team can compete with large college teams successfully. Others say just the opposite, namely that even a very good small college team could not compete with an average large college squad. Although this argument will probably never be conclusively settled, it is still very interesting to see what happens when two teams, from schools differing a great deal in size, meet on the athletic field.

Hounds Face W.V.U.

Last Saturday, the Hound nine played host to West Virginia University, a school which is quite a bit larger than Loyola. The Mountaineers are rated highly in NCAA baseball circles. However, on Saturday afternoon, the Hounds just about matched the visitors play for play until, with W.V.U. leading 1-0, the game was called because of rain. The result of the game does not prove anything of course because of the many factors involved. It was West Virginia's first game. Nevertheless, as I said before, it's all very interesting.

Net Team Tops C.U. In Opener

by Tom Newcomb

The Loyola College tennis team defeated Catholic University 7-2, last Thursday afternoon.

*Russell Tontz started the match off on the right foot by defeating Steve Neill in straight sets 6-3, 6-0; Alex Cummings turned back Bob Degwitz 9-7 and 6-4, but Jimmy Mohler fell beneath the onslaught of Charles Borgonova 6-1, 6-1. Danny Michaelis, returning to the court after a year's absence, then beat Fred Frobota 6-3 and 6-2, while Dave Mulrooney, the team captain, put away Paul Heffernan 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. But the most satisfying match occurred between Barry Tillman of Loyola and Sam DeLeva of Catholic University, with Barry finishing on top 6-2, 6-3.

Doubles Matches

Alex Cummings and Jimmy Mohler combined to defeat Bob Degwitz and Charles Borgonova 2-6, 6-2, 7-5 in the first doubles match. Russ Tontz and Dave Mulrooney team for the other Loyola doubles victory, defeating Steve Neill and Fred Frobota 6-3, 6-3, while Danny Michaelis and Barry Tillman dropped their match to Paul Heffernan and Sam DeLeva 6-2, 6-3.

Coach Vincent Colimore says that the team is high in spirits and looks forward to bringing Loyola a tennis championship for this season's play.

Hound Hurler, John Kogler, warms up before the Loyola-West Virginia tilt.

Hound Nine Plays Host To Harvard Tomorrow

Although losing two of their first three exhibition games, this year's Greyhound baseball team has rendered coach Lefty Reitz optimistic toward the coming season. With all candidates being afforded the opportunity to perform under game conditions, Lefty has been able to evaluate and make his final cuts. To date the starting line-up shapes as follows: Seniors Jim Kennedy and Dave Marshall will shag flies in left and center fields while Sophs John Campbell and Ed Burchell will be platooned in the right field spot. A solid infield has Sophs Mike Elliot and Bill Falkenham at short and first and Freshmen Bob Rossi and Bill Heidel at second and third.

Battery Mates

George Yurek and Al Schroeder will share duty behind the plate while Phil Potter, Jody Satterfield and Rel Van Daniker figure in handling most of the mound work.

In the opener against Bowdoin, which the Hounds lost by a 10 to 8 score, there were several bright spots including John Campbell's double and the three hit performance of Bill Heidel. In the second loss to Bowdoin (11-7), Jim Kennedy walked a homer, and Campbell rapped out 3 hits.

Rain Halts Game

In Saturday's tilt against West Virginia, Rel Van Daniker pitched five excellent innings, allowing only three hits before rain halted the game in the 5th with the Mountaineers ahead 1-0.

Linksmen Ready For Good Year

The golf team under the tutelage of Nappy Doherty opened their heavy six game schedule this past Wednesday against American University. Within the next month they will face Mt. St. Mary's, Baltimore University, Western Maryland, and Johns Hopkins in Mason-Dixon matches and will end the season with the M-D championship on May 7 in Virginia. The linksmen will play their home matches on the Mount Pleasant course.

Though they will miss the play of Chuck Pessagno who was the mainstay of the team in 1960 and 1961, Coach Doherty hopes that number one man Bill Mislowsky and captain Ed Conway will take up the slack. They will be backed up by Mike Kenney, Steve Krac, Bill Kolhepp, Paul Caruso, and Vince Petroniero. The linksmen will be striving to better last year's record of 3 wins and 2 losses.

Penn State Stick Team Visits Hound Ten Today

Last Friday afternoon, the Hound stickmen suffered their first loss of the season, dropping a 13-8 contest to Cornell University. The Hounds dominated play in the first half of the contest but seemed to run out of gas in the second stanza. In the opening half, Loyola outscored the visitors 6-4. Marty Pilsch led the assault on the Cornell nets with three unassisted goals, one a beautiful backhand shot from far out. The Hounds' John Stewart rammed two shots past the Cornell netminder in addition to picking up two assists from his midfield position. Freshman Lou Becker notched the other Greyhound score.

Second Half Different

In the second half, Cornell really came on strong, scoring nine goals while holding the Hounds to two. Loyola apparently began to miss its two ace defensemen, Capt. Ham Dugan and Marty Quinn, both of whom sat out the contest with injuries. The Hounds were also hurt by the loss of Stewart who left late in the game with a recurring thigh injury.

Marty Pilsch and Jacques Remmell notched the Hounds two scores in the second period. Freshman goalie Harry Bregel did a good job for the Loyola team making a total of 17 saves.

This afternoon, the Hound ten will entertain Penn State here at 3:30. Tomorrow, they will travel to Swarthmore for their first away contest.

Catholic U. Tops Hound Trackmen In First Meet

Despite the fine performances of Seniors Arnie Sapperstein and Lew Smith, the track team opened its season with a vain, though valiant, attempt in their 71-50 loss to power-laden Catholic U.

New Record

Sapperstein, premier M-D sprinter, opened his season with a record shattering performance in the 100 yd. dash. Arnie rewrote his own track record with a 9.5 second clocking in the century. In addition, he also won the 220 with a sparkling 22.4, and then came back with a 49.1 second leg in the mile relay. Smith led the Hounds in point production with 13 points. Lew won handily in the grueling mile and two mile distance runs, and finished second to C.U.'s Dockey in the 880. Hank McGraw finished second in both distance runs behind Smith.

Freshman Prospect

Freshman Bill Morris made a pleasing debut in track as he tied for the high jump with Jim Smith and C.U.'s Denglegi at 5' 8."

Sophomore Tony Ryan also contributed to the scoring with a pair of thirds in the 100 and 220.

Tomorrow at 3 o'clock, the Hounds host Washington College.

LONG LEAP: Cinderman Phil Pierpont hovers high in the air during the C.V. meet.

Intramurals

by Jim Latchford

Three more teams were eliminated from the Intramural Basketball league competition as the field was narrowed to four teams--the Polar Bears, Porky Pigs, Dukes, and Bombers. The previously unbeaten Porky Pigs fell victim to the Polar Bears by a 43-38 score. Mike Elliot's 19 points and the hard play of Van Daniker, Voith, and Dohler sparked the Polar Bears; Ed Gunkel got 18 for the losers. The Dukes knocked off the Huggers by a 26-25 score and the Mavericks 33-29, to stay in the running. Schroeter, Curtis, Fahey, and Zubrowski led the Dukes in both victories. In the final game, the Bombers beat the Foul Baegels 44-36. Schu, Revizzo, Rosso were top guns for the Bombers.

Bowling News

In the final match of Intramural Bowling League last week, Sam & Friends won three games from the Boozers to cop the second round championship. They will meet Willie's Winners, the first round winner, in the near future for the league championship. The highlight of last week's action was Pat Morrissey's phenomenal 396 set, the highest rolled by a league member this year. Pat's three games were 120, 137 and 139. The old record was 375, held by Bill Smuck.
